

about us

Funding

The Science Media Centre is housed within the Wellcome Trust but is independent from any single scientific body. To preserve our independence, funding has been sought from a wide variety of sources. Donations to the Centre are capped at 5% of the total annual running costs, with the exception of the Wellcome Trust, the Drayson Foundation and the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Media groups, charities, universities, industry and professional associations are all represented amongst the funders of the Science Media Centre. The list below shows the organisations that have committed funds towards our running costs in the last twelve months:

(To date: August 2012)
